

Dr Timothy Low

Chief Executive Officer
Farrer Park Hospital
Singapore

Dr Timothy Low is CEO of Farrer Park Hospital, a private acute tertiary institution sited within Singapore's first fully integrated healthcare and hospitality complex.

Prior to his current role, Dr Low served as CEO of Gleneagles Hospital in Singapore. Through his leadership, the hospital established itself as a 6-star private healthcare provider, clinching 14 local and regional awards including the prestigious Asian Hospital Management Award as well as the 'National Work Redesign Model Company' by Spring Singapore (Governing agency for innovation in Singapore). Under him, revenues exceed 42% to over USD$100 million.

Having also served in senior management positions for pharmaceutical and medical device industries in the Asia Pacific region, Dr Low's breath of exposure allowed him to pioneer the establishment of a global contract research organisation, validating Singapore as its regional headquarters.

With more than 28 years of experience in the Healthcare industry, Dr Low brings with him a strong background of leadership within the business and medical community. With his vast experience and contributions to the industry, Dr Low is listed in the ranks of Stanford Who's who.

Dr Low received his Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery from the National University of Singapore (NUS) and is also a graduate of the NUS Graduate School of Business, Stanford University Executive Programme and of the Singapore Management University Asia Pacific Hospital Management Programme.
